Helena, July 26, 1894.

At least our populist friends believe in reciprocity. They very promptly embraced Coxeys and now Coxeys have embraced populism. Each recognizes in the other a brother with wheels in his head.

AFTER two days of sensational speech-making in the senate by Gorman and Hill, that body settled down to listen to the week pleading of second rate senators for special taxes on all the people to support local industries.

ILLINOIS republicans refused to nominate a candidate for the United States senate in their state convention. The republicans are in favor of keeping the government machinery in the hands of the fewest number of people possible.

HILL may knock Gorman out, Gorman may give Hill a finishing stroke, and both may thump Cleveland. It matters not. The Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson continues to sit up aloft and preside with strict impartiality over the senate with the democratic presidential nomination within his easy reach.

UNTIL the Bozeman Chronicle succeeds in knocking out its own arguments of last year and the year before against Anaconda it cannot make a very cheerful advocate for the One Man Town. It looks now as if it would be kept too busy explaining its own flop to be of much service in an aggressive campaign.

MARQUIS PULLMAN has beaten his employees in their fight to maintain wages. The Illinois marquis builded wiser than most people knew when he set up a town in which he absolutely controlled every inhabitant. He doubtless looked ahead and saw that the time would come when he should want to cut wages, and rightly reckoned that he could do it if he owned the town.

DISCUSSION of government ownership of the railroads is out of the question. The railroads hold charters from the several states through which they run and the government has no power to seize them or confiscate them, and to buy them would be out of the question. To get at them at all two-thirds of the states would have to vote in favor of amending the constitution of the United States, a thing that they are not likely to do within the lifetime of any populist now on earth.

INTERCHANGE of opinions at a conference of leading democrats of Missoula county showed a decided opposition to a general fusion with the populists in that county. The Missoula democrats are of the right sort. They stand by their principles and reject the heresies of populism. Let the democrats of other counties follow their example and stand by democratic color. Let no man be nominated by a democratic convention in this state who does not stand squarely on the platform of the party.

BEWARE the republican convention and its seeming silver resolutions. The unbroken record of the party is that of hostility to the white metal and it has chosen candidates who were goldbugs. The last expression of choice for a presidential candidate was at the league meeting in Denver, when McKinley, the yellowest of all the goldbugs, was almost the unanimous choice. Even the local sentiment of the great silver state of Colorado was not able to make a respectable showing in the greatest city in the silver producing region in a republican gathering.

Now that the republicans of Montana have definitely settled on the time for their state convention, we would like to see our republican contemporaries give a thorough discussion to the proposition of the Missoulian, that the party's candidates for United States senator be selected at the convention. This would save a great deal of trouble hereafter, perhaps, and would make a very harmonious campaign. So far as the leading candidates are concerned we feel sure that Power, Sanders, Carter, Rickards, Mantle, and Nelson Story would all agree to submit their names to the decision of the convention.

The virtuous Boulder Age fears that if the capital remains at Helena bad influences will surround the meeting of the legislature. Therefore this foe of corporations wants to have our laws made in a town where One Man controls everything, where the press is owned by a corporation, and where public sentiment is absolutely conforming to the views of a Boss. The Boulder Age, which has been bitterly inveighing against the encroachments of corporations, in short, would deliberately surrender the law-making power to a corporation which in its greed for power is no better than the Pullman car company, the Standard Oil company, or the Carnegie iron works. By the same reasoning, if the Age were published in Illinois, it would advocate the removal of the capital of that state to Mr. Pullman's town.

MR. ALLEN, the populist senator from Nebraska, who was a member of the sugar investigating committee, in a supplemental report utters some sentiments that the country will approve. Commenting on the speculations of McPherson and Quay, Mr. Allen says: "I think this investigation has demonstrated the necessity of a law prohibiting speculation by senators and representatives in any class of speculative stocks whose value may be immediately affected by national legislation. Whenever a senator or representative is elected and takes his seat he thereby at least impliedly agrees with the public that so long as he holds his office he will abstain from the transaction of any private business that may conflict with the faithful discharge of his public duties. I have introduced a bill into the senate making such speculation a cause for expulsion from congress." It is a shame to our public men that it should seem necessary to put such a law upon our statute books, but recent events have shown that it may be wise to do so.

MR. JOHN FRANEY, inspector of factories for the state of New York, in speaking of arbitration for labor troubles, says: "The great difficulty with any plan for the carrying out of which state officials are appointed, is that if it is compulsory it is likely to be regarded as infringing too much on personal liberty, and if it is not compulsory it is not easy to see how such a plan can be carried out. The same difficulty attends the establishment of boards of arbitration. Compulsory arbitration, most people declare, would be unconstitutional, whereas if the state board of arbitration has no mandatory powers, its decrees are hard to enforce, unless both sides bind themselves of their own free will absolutely to abide by its decisions."

This is a succinct statement of the difficulties in the way of arbitration, but we do not look upon them as insurmountable. We have great faith in the moving force of public opinion. Strikes even cannot be protracted without it, and the most powerful corporations finally give way before a storm of adverse popular sentiment. If the federal government and each of the states would establish boards of arbitration, clothed only with power to summon and examine witnesses under oath and to report their findings, the very existence of such bodies would exert a powerful effect on strikes and compel one or both parties to make concessions. Such has been the experience with railroad commissions that have exercised only advisory powers, and we believe arbitration commissions would find their suggestions heeded in a great majority of cases, whether they had power to enforce them or not. At least such boards are worth trying as a first resort.

Women Not Admitted.

DENVER, July 26.—In the turnbuck convention to-day the committee on constitution and platform reported in favor of the admission of women and advocated a plank against the infingement of the liberty of the press, free speech, or the right of assembly. Hugo Musch presented a minority report in opposition to the admission of women and affirming the right of the members to their own individual opinions, regardless of the declaration of principles of the order. After an animated discussion the minority report was adopted by a vote of 210 to 183.

Mary E. Butler, plaintiff, vs. George W. Edwinton, Franklin R. Wallace, May L. Wallace, Louis C. F. Lotz, assignees, The Denver Investment and Banking Corporation, Limited, a corporation, and Robert C. Billings, defendants.

The state of Montana sends greeting to the above named defendants.

Whereas, the plaintiff by the above named plaintiff in the district court of the First judicial district of the state of Montana, in and for the county of Lewis and Clarke, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons, if served within this county, or, if served out of this county, but in this district, within twenty days, otherwise within forty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint.

The said action is brought to obtain a decree of this court for the foreclosure of a certain mortgage upon lot numbered forty-two and twenty-nine, in block numbered forty-two, of the 1st lot addition to the city of Helena, county of Lewis and Clarke, state of Montana, said mortgage being described in the complaint on file herein and executed by the defendants, Oliver M. Stanton and Augusta L. Stanton, on the 16th day of September, 1891, to secure the payment of a certain note for twenty-two hundred dollars and interest thereon that the premises conveyed by said mortgage may be sold and the proceeds applied to the payment of said note and interest; also to the payment of fourteen and 50-100 dollars ($14.50) and interest, being the county taxes paid by said plaintiff on the 10th day of September, 1891, to secure the payment of a certain note for twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) and interest thereon; that the premises conveyed by said mortgage may be sold and the proceeds applied to the payment of said note and interest; also to the payment of nine and 50-100 dollars ($9.50) and interest, being the city taxes paid by said plaintiff on the 10th day of September, 1891, to secure the payment of a certain note for one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) attorney's fee provided in said mortgage; also to the payment of the costs and charges of this action; and for such other and further relief as plaintiff may be entitled to. Reference is hereby made to the complaint on file herein for more specific information as to the allegations of said cause of action.

And you are hereby notified, that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.
